

RISE AFNNET Fellow, DR Joseph Nguta attends the 2nd International Conference on Pathogens at the Human-Animal Interphase, Brazil

Dr Joseph Nguta, a PostDoc in the RISE AFNNET UON Node recently attended and presented his paper at the "2nd International Congress on Pathogens at the Human-Animal Interphase: One Health for Sustainable Development" held at Summerville Beach Resort, Porto de Galinhas, Brazil from 14th to 17th August 2013. His paper was presented at the under the Theme "Drug Development and Antimicrobial Resistance" and was entitled "Acute toxicity, antimalarial activity and phytochemical screening of selected medicinal plants". The Wellcome Trust provided him with the travel grant to participate in the conference